[The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review.]

THE success of the individual is often the good fortune of the many. Julius Rosenwald, who began with a public school education, courage and the desire to help others, has established a fund "for the benefit of humanity," recently adding $20,000,000 to other gifts, now in excess of $20,000,000.

Mr. Rosenwald gives the money to trustees for the public benefit and imposes only one condition, "that all the money shall be spent, principal and interest, within 25 years of Mr. Rosenwald's death."

GEN. ATTERBURY, of the Pennsylvania railroad, co-operating with President Storey, of the Santa Fe, will make flying a part of regular travel across the continent.

THE Atlantic to Pacific traveler take a fast Pennsylvania train in New York at 6 p. m. and next morning at Columbus, O., change to an airplane, flying 100 miles an hour all day, with Fred Harvey feeding him.

MOVING picture enthusiasts will soon have sound with their pictures. Actors will talk and sing on the screen and news reels will enable crowds to see and HEAR what happens.

WILLIAM FOX and his "movietone," aided by Walter S. Gifford, of the big telephone company, and Mr. Bloom, of the Western Electric, have convinced the moving picture industry that moving pictures in future will require "sound and fury."

Various changes will come, actors with good voices will be imported to Hollywood or moving picture studios will be transferred to places where good voices can be found.

NEW YORK state has signed a check for $33,723,734, the biggest ever drawn by the richest state. The best part of it is that the money will be spent for public schools.

Not long ago every state spent more for prisons than for public schools, and nothing at all for public libraries. There is progress.

LEBANON MAN FOUND SLAIN IN ROAD DITCH

Object of Police Search is Shot to Death.

"TAKEN FOR RIDE"
Victim Was Suspect in Killing and Bank Hold-up.

LEBANON, O., May 17.—Riddled with bullets, the body of Jack Parker, also known as Thomas Combs, the object of a police search in connection with the slaying of "Buddy" Ryan, Cincinnati pugilist, was found in a ditch alongside the highway about two and a half miles west of here early today.

All indications pointed to a theory that Parker had been "taken for a ride" and had been slain on the road, his slayers then tossing the body into the gulley, 20 feet from the highway. Parker, said to be known to police in Cincinnati and Hamilton as an underworld character, was alleged by County Detective Joseph B. Schaefer to have been implicated in the spectacular holdup of the Clintonville Bank near Columbus last week. A car, identified as the one used in that holdup, and said to have belonged to Parker, was found abandoned and wrecked in Hamilton last week, with machine gun parts stored inside, according to the detective. Further investigation into Parker's death with the hope that it may shed new light on the bank robbery is being conducted.

YOUNGSTOWN SHEET AND TUBE REVEALS DEAL AT STATE LINE

Acquired Land for Montour Railroad Terminal.

110-ACRE TRACT
Re-loading Station and Docks Will be Erected.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube company, Youngstown, is the owner of the 110-acre tract of land at the state line, known as the city and Dawson farms, acquired in 1917 and 1918 as the site for a proposed rail and water terminal, it was revealed yesterday afternoon at the hearing before the interstate commerce commission, at Washington, upon the application of the Montour railroad for permission to build a branch line between Smith's Ferry and Youngstown.

Plan Rail-River Terminal. A. J. Boehm, land and tax agent for the steel manufacturers, testified that the company, in 1917, had purchased the 90-acre Dawson farm, east of the Ohio-Pennsylvania state line, and a year later acquired the remaining 20 acres of the city farm which borders the Dawson property.

Purpose of the company in purchasing these tracts Boehm said, was to use them for the construction of a railroad terminal and river docks for the re-loading of coal from river barges to the company's fleet of coal barges for shipment to downriver points.

As early as 1913, the Youngstown Sheet and Tube, facing competition from mills at Pittsburgh having river facilities, began a study of the river between Youngstown and the city. After a careful study of various sites along the river, the company finally selected the tracts near the Ohio-Pennsylvania border. The Dawson farm was purchased by a Pittsburgh attorney, while W. W. Beall, Wellsburg, secured the deed for the city farm. At the time the deals were closed, it was understood that the two purchasers were merely acting as agents and the identity of the real owners was not revealed.

Acquire Coal Lands. About the same time that these surveys were started the steel company acquired coal lands on the Monongahela river at Nomacolin, Green county, Pennsylvania, which is now in excess of 7,800 acres. It is the intention, he said, to develop these coal fields for use in operating the mills if permission is given to build the branch line between Smith's Ferry and Youngstown.

In August, 1922, the steel company, in conjunction with the Brier Hill Steel company, of Youngstown, employed a railroad engineer to make a survey of the proposed route between the river and Struthers, near Youngstown, and also to make an estimate of the cost of the proposed improvement, Boehm said. This survey was completed and a report filed with both companies.

May Develop Clay Fields. Development of new clay fields south of Negley will be made if the proposed railroad is built, J. E. White, Pittsburgh civil engineer and president of two large clay plants near New Galilee, said.

"Construction of the railroad will allow us to open up a bigger field of raw material," White said.

White said Youngstown ought to be the best market for the products of his companies, the Darlington Fireproofing company, and the White Clay (Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

Bond Names State Treasurer in Charges

Disconduct in Office is Alleged Against W. S. Johnson by Former Official.

Charges of misconduct in office were made against W. S. Johnson, state treasurer, in a statement filed in the governor's office yesterday by John C. Bond, former state auditor. Bond, under sentence of six years' imprisonment following his conviction of misuse of state funds, submitted his charges to the governor "for such action as you may deem proper."

Bond placed a notation at the top of the long legal document that the charges "should be investigated" with a view to Johnson's impeachment or removal from office, or both, under provisions of the state constitution. Johnson, a candidate for re-election, and credited with originating the investigation into Bond's official conduct, said the same charges were filed against him, a year and a half ago by Bond while he was still auditor. At that time, Johnson said, he submitted an answer to Governor Gore, going into detail as to each specification and heard nothing further from it.

After his conviction in March, Bond has been at liberty under $10,000 bond pending an appeal to the state supreme court. Johnson was a leading witness at his trial which followed a series of court actions growing out of an investigation of Bond's conduct in office at the instance of Governor Gore. After having been removed from office by the governor, Bond resigned the office when the state senate was about to start an impeachment trial. The last development in the case came last week when the Kanawha county circuit court refused to review the record of Bond's conviction but granted a 30-day stay of sentence to permit an appeal to the state supreme court.

Bond, in his bill of specifications charged Johnson with making illegal payments out of the state treasury, purchase of Virginia debt bonds above the market price and use of his official position to obtain credit from certain banks. Other charges included: Causing illegal publication of financial statements; refusal to turn over state road sinking fund as provided by law; neglect to duty as member of state sinking fund commission; refusal to honor warrants drawn upon the treasury; refusal to move to new capitol building; use of official position for personal financial gain; conversion of state property for his own personal use; payments out of treasury for improper purposes; payments out of treasury to persons not rendering services and extravagance in conduct of office.

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery.

Milwaukee, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. A. Rock, Dept. 762 Box 737, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over 24 years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention. He strongly opposes needless operations. Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Union Memorial Day

With G. A. R. Flag day observed two weeks ago, the American Legion Poppy day campaign scheduled for next Saturday and a like movement slated for the near future by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, arrangements are under way for East Liverpool's annual tribute to the memory of the soldier, sailor and marine dead on Wednesday, May 30.

Plans for the observance, which will include a parade, decoration of the graves of deceased service men and other tributes to their memory, have not assumed definite form. For several years, however, the city has had two or more programs, usually with exercises in the morning and afternoon.

It would seem to be the logical solution of problems involved for the Civil, Spanish-American and World war veterans' organizations, their auxiliaries and allied societies to join hands this year.

For many of the members of the Grand Army of the Republic which sponsored the Memorial day exercises in bygone years, the coming day of homage to their late comrades will be the last they will witness. This should be another reason for the younger organizations to agree on a joint program, thus giving representatives of the three wars the place that is due them.

East Liverpool should have a union observance of the day that is dedicated to the memory of the men who have answered the call to the colors.

Famine Relief Campaign

The recent launching of a $10,000,000 drive to aid famine sufferers in the war zones of China has developed the fact that there is a decidedly wide gap between the views of the Red Cross and those of the China Famine Relief association regarding the matter of relief in the Orient.

The relief project is sponsored by high officials of the board of foreign missions of the Congregational church, the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, the national council of the Young Men's Christian association, the China society and the Christian Herald, and it has at the head of the executive committee as chairman Major General James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America.

The new organization plans an intensive drive of eight weeks throughout the United States under the direction of John Earl Baker, the civil engineer who was the executive director of the great famine relief expedition conducted by the American Red Cross in China in 1920-21.

The view of the new organization is that the Chinese famine sufferers should be given aid regardless of responsibility for the famine; that where suffering exists, the sufferers should be succored.

The belief of the Red Cross is said to be that the people of this country should not be asked to send contributions of money to China so long as that country remains the prey of the bandit-militarists, who are so largely responsible for the famine which exists there; to say nothing of the impoverishment of China; that to do so will simply give the bandit-militarists more to seize and prolong the fearful conditions which obtain as a result of their activities.

From Washington comes a report that, in this view, John Barton Payne, who is president of the Red Cross, and Colonel E. P. Bicknell, director of its foreign operations, are acting in complete accord with the stand of the federal government as the result of the government's official information concerning the actual state of affairs in China.

Woman Plans Ocean Hop

Miss Mabel Boll, known as the queen of diamonds, who recently took up aviation in a serious way, is abroad with an announcement that she will endeavor to cross the Atlantic this summer in a non-stop flight, hoping to be the first woman ever to make the ocean jump.

In the next few weeks, Miss Boll says, she will leave dawn and dusk behind her in a Fokker plane, with its nose turned toward Ireland and the Old World.

Miss Boll has chosen a pilot who is worthy and a plane which should give her little trouble. The rest she is willing to leave to her life-long luck.

But Miss Boll will find before she proceeds very much farther with plans for this trip that it requires considerable more than luck to bring it to a successful achievement. Others have tried it and have left much to luck, only to pay with their lives for this trust in omens.

Spanning the Atlantic by air is a stupendous undertaking. It is something which requires more than a ship and luck. No one will begrudge Miss Boll success in her daring adventure, but everyone will hope that she discards her proverbial luck charms and in their place adopts common sense in preparing for the flight.

Amoy And The Tea Party

There recently was carried by the telegraph news associations a story out of China which said the Port of Amoy threatened an economic boycott on foreign goods. In itself, the news in this dispatch concerned very few manufacturers, and if the threatened boycott was carried out, would mean little economic loss in any quarter.

But the dispatch was of added interest, however, for the simple reason that it was from Amoy that the tea came which furnished material for the Boston Tea Party, that historic episode of pre-Revolutionary days in the cradle of American independence, when England's tea was dumped into Boston harbor by Yankee patriots disguised in Indian regalia.

From Amoy, aboard British vessels, this tea was shipped into Boston harbor. This, of course, was before the days when Amoy was an open port for foreign trade, though sailing vessels frequently called at their own risk. After Canton, it early became one of the centers of clipper ship activity, and soon was designated a treaty port for foreign commerce.

Judging from the progress of the Pittsburgh baseball team, the terms "Buccaneers" and "Pirates" are misnomers.

HASKIN DAILY LETTER

By Frederick J. Haskin

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—Modern life seems inevitably to be condemned to regulation. It would seem that the free air of Heaven might be regarded as at least one realm in which man, having mastered the art of getting there, might be immune. But no. The director of aeronautics of the department of commerce has issued a set of air traffic rules which are as intricate and binding as those laid down for automobiles traversing the public highways.

The rules are in the interests of safety and the unimpeded transit of the air. They look to the future, in the main, for it can scarcely be said that the skies are crowded at present. Nevertheless, cities are rapidly establishing airports and with mail and commercial lines increasing in number constantly it seems not unlikely that definite rules will prove imperative in the near future to prevent collisions in the air and accidents at landing fields.

One of the primary rules is against stunt flying in established airways. It is recognized by the authorities that air travel is relatively safe if conducted on safe and sane principles; that is, merely the effort to get from one place to another through the air. Somersaults, nosedives, tailspins, falling leaves, and such acrobatics are forbidden. If an adventurous aviator desires to include in such sport he must keep off the established airways and fly over open country where the possible fall of his plane will not endanger the lives of persons on the ground.

The same rules apply to all aircraft navigating an airway, whether the plane is flying on commercial or non-commercial business. Foreign, interstate, and intrastate flights are regarded alike and all must abide by the rules.

The rules provide that airplanes shall not go zooming over the congested sections of cities except at a height sufficient to permit of safe emergency landing some distance away.

In flying over open country planes must maintain an altitude of not less than 500 feet excepting when engaged in industrial occupations such as the dusting of cotton, when the plane may fly as low as is necessary for the process. In case of engine trouble or other emergency it is regarded as safer, the aviator having more opportunity to get his plane under control if he is high above the earth's surface.

No stunt flying is permitted, under the new rules, without the approval of the secretary of commerce, over any stadium, county fair, race track, or such open air assembly. This rule was largely prompted by the episode which took place when President Harding was dedicating the Lincoln memorial at Washington. An aviator swooped down over the concourse of people, the buzz of his propeller making such a tremendous sound that the president's own speech as well as those of other distinguished guests, was drowned out.

The rules run very largely to the discouragement of stunt flying. No aviator may loop the loop or do other stunt flying at an altitude of less than 2000 feet over any established civil airway without express permission from the secretary of commerce. Stunt flying over certified airports is absolutely forbidden.

Landing at airports should be made, where possible, up the wind and planes should not approach a landing field on a diagonal line but should maneuver in such a way as to come down at right angles. A landing plane, however, is given the right of way over planes getting ready to take off or resting on the ground. Furthermore, when two airplanes are approaching an airport at the same time and preparing to land, the plane at the greater height must give right of way to the one nearer the ground and keep out of its way until it is safely landed.

The rules provide for night lights which must be shown by all planes in flight from a half hour after sunset to a half hour before sunrise. There must be a green light on the side of the right wing, a red one on the left, and a white tail light. These first two lights must have a strength sufficient to be visible two miles distant and the tail light three miles.

Questions And Answers

By Frederick J. Haskin.

Many readers send in questions signed only with initials, asking that the answers appear in the newspaper. The space is limited and would accommodate a fraction of such requests. The answers published are one that may interest many readers, rather than the one who asks the question only. All questions should be accompanied with the writer's name and address and a two-cent stamp for reply. Send your question to the East Liverpool Review Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q. Has a Roman Catholic ever headed the ticket of one of our leading political parties in a Presidential campaign? G. B.

A. If Al Smith is nominated, he will be the first of this religious faith to be given this honor.

Q. What is the shortest time in which a boy can become an Eagle Scout? C. B. D.

A. In the earlier days, providing he acquired the necessary twenty-one badges for Eagle Rank, he could become an Eagle Scout at the end of a six-month period from his obtaining the First Class Rank. That time has now been lengthened; and it is necessary for a boy to be a First Class Scout one year, and pass his twenty-one badges, before he can become an Eagle. Consequently the best record a boy could possibly make officially, was in former days, six months from First Class, nine months from date of entering the Movement. Many Scouts have become Eagle in that time. At present this record is impossible. No boy can be certified as Eagle Scout without at least one year and three months' service in the Movement.

Q. How many memorial trees have been planted at Mount Vernon? W. F.

A. There have been thirty plantings. The species of trees include elm, oak, ash, mulberry, walnut, maple, beech, cedar of Lebanon, and English Yew. One memorial planting was of ivy.

Q. Who published the first furniture catalogue? G. E.

A. The Gentleman and Cabinet-Maker's Director published in 1754 by Thomas Chippendale was the first. Copies sold for five pounds each.

Q. Will martins eat bees? H. F. I.

A. The Biological Survey says that martins are not likely to eat many honey bees. It has been noted from examinations of the stomach content of martins that most of the honey bees eaten were the drones, because drones are not able to fly very fast.

The Business Side.

It was more than a coincidence that on a day when newspapers the country over were giving much space to the Bremen flyers the financial pages were recording important developments on the business side of aeronautics. Records of the New York Stock Exchange for Thursday called attention, for example, to an advance in the stock of the Curtiss Co. to the highest on record and a jump of 14 points for the day in Wright. On the same day the Thompson Aeronautical Corp., a Cleveland concern, increased its capital tenfold in anticipation of rapid growth.

Better perhaps than anything else, business records of this kind emphasize the rapidly growing importance of aviation as a transportation agency. Flights of the Lindbergh and Junker type demonstrate possibilities. Daily flights from various important commercial centers both in this country and in Europe indicate on the other hand that much of the pioneering in the industry has been done and that it is already a business of considerable magnitude.

Less than a year ago Lindbergh wrote that aeronautics would become an important industry and that flying on a broad commercial scale would be possible when it could command capital in competition with other forms of industries. That time arrived earlier probably than even he anticipated. And in all probability his oceanic flight and subsequently his tour of the country in the interest of aviation were the most important factors in creating an air-mindedness essential to the industry's rapid development.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ritzy Rosey

The people of this progressive age are ever on the alert for some one thing that does double duty or more, be it in industry or wearing apparel. And Ritzy Rosey has what is certainly an accomplishment along that line—a single piece of lingerie which takes the place of brassiere, vest, girdle and panties. Incidentally, Ritzy is using one of those new powder and lipstick combinations which come so attractively arranged and which are so perfectly timed that, with normal use, the supply of both is exhausted simultaneously.

NEW YORK Day By Day

By O. O. McIntyre.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Manhattan's tardiness in arriving at social affairs grows worse with the seasons. It is an almost unwritten social code to arrive at a dinner from a half hour to an hour late. It does not matter if the theatre party is to follow.

After the same fashion most guests do not seem to know when to go home. Ten years ago the luncheon hour was 12 o'clock and luncheon places were deserted by 1 p. m. Today the lunch crowd has not reached its peak until 2 and they began to leave at 3.

The dinner hour has been moved steadily forward until 9 o'clock. This lateness has been the despair of thousands of hostesses and hosts who have had their dinners grow cold. It is responsible for the prevalence of the buffet frolic.

Professional people of the stage and screen are the chief offenders in this dilatory gesture. Back of it all is the desire to attract attention. And New York regards it as "smart." Impetus, too, has been given the notion by the chronic lateness of Mayor Walker.

There are a few old-fashioned folk who cling to the idea that to arrive late is a breach of etiquette, but they are a pitiful minority. Irvin Cobb, for instance, always arrives on the precise dot, causing him to observe the frequent helps the hired butler roll in the ice cream freezer.

Congested traffic is the standing alibi of late arrivals, if they care enough to offer an explanation. Another contributing cause, aside from the hope of being noticed, is the fear of being bored. New York has no sympathy for a "flat" party, and will walk right out.

But if it swings into high speed, the guests will gladly remain to greet the sun with a hiccup. These reflections were inspired by an incident of the week. A banker had invited 36 couple to a dinner. At 9 only four couples arrived. He waited until 9:45 and escorted his guests to a private cafe. The dinner was ruined.

A foreign architect observes: "New York expresses splendor in every type of building." He should be wheeled around to some of our street car barns.

There has been an overtone of publicity recently about the democracy of millionaires and their wives. There are reports of them giving dinners at Child's and riding in sight seeing buses. I will believe some of it when I see a millionaire and his wife putting through Fifth avenue in one of those flying motor cycles with a side car.

Nor have these floppers ever heard a flapper say: "I mean I actually do"—a phrase featured by their prototypes in every play.

The flapper notion was grossly exaggerated. Every young girl with short skirts and a shingled head was considered a rake-hell ready to get pie-eyed on a few scoops of gin, or neck with a handsome yeast-eater at the drop of the hat. Some simpatized the comic paper presentation, but they were merely the showoffs. There are a few young ladies left who do not wig gin, pet in public or read dirty books. They are not so noticeable because they make no effort to be seen.

Times have changed, but not much. The ukelele supplanted the mandolin, the surreptitious cigarette is smoked in the open and in the final analysis youth has acquired more self assurance. I recall the first girl in our town to ride a bicycle in a divided skirt. Grandma warned me about her. "She's as wild as a pigeon," she declared.

YOUR HEALTH

An Ounce of Prevention Is Worth A Pound of Cure.

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland.

This is the time of year when it rains on occasion. You are bound to get wet every time this happens for fear they will take cold.

The same folks are afraid of fresh air and especially currents of air. They wear skull-caps and night-caps. They are scared if they feel a draft.

They are afraid of wet feet. They think they must begin to snuffle and sneeze after the least exposure. I sometimes think this speedy effect is psychic, but it exists and must be considered.

Getting wet is a common experience. I do not approve of going out with the deliberate intention of getting wet, but clean water never hurt anybody. It makes no difference whether it is taken internally, or applied externally, either intentionally or inadvertently. No one need worry over a good wetting. There is nothing harmful about wet clothes. The danger comes from living in damp garments for hours, with consequent chilling of the body.

If you get wet, go on briskly with your work, or walk. So long as you are exercising, so long as your heart is doing its full duty, you are just as safe as you would be in the sun or lake.

Everybody knows it is unpleasant and unsafe to stay too long in the water. Likewise, if you are in wet clothes too long you get the same physical ill effects.

There must be proper reaction after such exposure, in order to ward off possible danger. Go home, rub yourself vigorously with a rough towel, clothe your body in dry garments, and you are just as safe and will be as invigorated as if you had had a dip in the surf at Atlantic City.

Make sure your hair is thoroughly dry and especially that your stockings are free from moisture. The extremities, for some reason or other, are more sensitive than the body.

Don't stay indoors because it rains. Put on your rubbers and saffly forth in rain coat or under your umbrella.

Let your skin rejoice in the moisture it will receive. It softens its texture and cleanses its pores.

In England and Scotland nobody pays the slightest attention to the weather. Shoes and clothing are made with reference to whatever may come.

Of course, you will not be foolish about it, and stay in your wet shoes and garments. Every business man and woman should have suitable clothing at the business place, so that proper change can be made. If you follow this rule you will rejoice in the experience of getting wet and will suffer no ill effects.

Answers to Health Queries.

1. R. Q.—Is it safe for a 17-year-old boy with a weak heart to take cod-liver oil tablets to gain weight?

A.—Yes, but why not take the pure cod-liver oil.

J. H. Q.—Does the skin itch and crack when there is too much acidity in the system?

A.—Yes, but the trouble may be due to eczema. Avoid too many sweets and be sure to keep the intestinal tract clear. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

R. C. S. Q.—What would cause sharp pains through my shoulders and back continuously. I am 18 years of age.

A.—May be due to gases or to neuralgia. Watch your diet and keep the system clear and if this does not bring about improvement have an examination to determine the exact source of the trouble. For further particulars send a self-addressed envelope and repeat your question.

Don't Make a Toy
Out of Baby
—Babies Have Nerves—
By RUTH BRITAIN

Much of the nervousness in older children can be traced to the over-stimulation during infancy, caused by regarding baby as a sort of animated toy for the amusement of parents, relatives and friends. Baby may be played with, but not for more than a quarter of an hour daily. Beyond that, he is handled, tickled, caused to laugh or even scream, will sometimes result in vomiting, and invariably causes irritability, crying or sleeplessness.

Fretfulness, crying and sleeplessness from this cause can easily be avoided by treating baby with more consideration, but when you just can't see what is making baby restless or upset, better give him a few drops of pure, harmless Castoria. It's amazing to see how quickly it calms baby's nerves and soothes him to sleep; yet it contains no drugs or opiates. It is purely vegetable — the recipe is on the wrapper. Leading physicians prescribe it for colic, cholera, diarrhea, constipation, gas on stomach and bowels, feverishness, loss of sleep and all other "upsets" of babyhood. Over a million bottles used a year shows its overwhelming popularity.

With each bottle of Castoria, you get a book on Motherhood, worth its weight in gold. Look for Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the package so you'll get genuine Castoria. There are many imitations.

I find this hard-water soap

saves work and washes clothes whiter

I USED to be old-fashioned, too, and struggle with the week's wash to get it bright and snowy. But no more! Now I get clothes from the washer whiter than ever, so easily.

All I use is Rinso, the granulated hard-water soap. It asks no help of bar soaps, chips or water softeners. A little Rinso makes a tubful of creamy, lasting suds—even in the hard water we have here.

It's marvelous the way dirt and stains float off in the thick Rinso suds. The grimmest things come spotless with little or no rubbing. I don't even bother about boiling any more, Rinso cleans and whitens so.

I was reading in the paper the other day how 32,000 washing machine demonstrators use this hard-water soap to show their machines at their best. I'm not surprised; I can see for myself how much whiter Rinso washes clothes.

Why don't you ask your grocer for "Old Gold's smoothness was so obvious" said Miss Anne Morgan

after the Blindfold cigarette test

MISS ANNE MORGAN

Daughter of the late J. P. Morgan, resembles her distinguished father in both ability and breadth of vision.

Why you can pick them... even in the dark

IN THIS scientific cigarette test a blindfolded smoker tries four leading brands. The only question asked is, "Which one do you like best?" Why should one cigarette win time after time? What gives OLD GOLDS their captivating charm? The answer is very simple: heart-leaf tobacco. No heavy, coarse top-leaves of the tobacco plant... no withered ground-leaves. Only the cool and fragrant heart-leaves are good enough for OLD GOLD. It's their quality that gives OLD GOLDS their honey-like smoothness. Do you wonder that they win... even in the dark?

"A decorator once told me that to appreciate the texture of a fabric or the glaze of a vase one's eyes should be closed. And to enjoy the fragrance of a perfume one should close one's eyes... one's other senses seem all the keener. That was the convincing thing about the blindfold test. The aroma and the flavor of one cigarette were so marked... the smoothness so obvious that I chose it instantly. It proved to be the OLD GOLD."

REED BALKS ON VOTE QUIZ IN NEW JERSEY

Missourian Protests Against Senatorial Investigation.

HINT CASH USED

Senator Goff Plans to Resign From Committee.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Senator James A. Reed, new a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, today was voicing an earnest protest against the senate's action in ordering him to conduct an investigation of the New Jersey Republican senatorial election.

Reed protested in the senate that he "did not want to direct any more inquiries," but the senate, by a viva voce vote, ordered his famous "slush fund" committee to probe the New Jersey primary, in which Hamilton P. Kean, defeated former Governor Edward C. Stokes and others for the Republican senatorial nomination. The new inquiry was demanded by Senator Caraway (D.) of Arkansas when newspapers reported Stokes charged Kean with using money to win the nomination.

"I don't want to investigate anything," said Reed. "I'm a candidate for the presidential nomination and I've had enough investigations."

Senator Goff (R.) of West Virginia, another member of the committee, announced he would resign as soon as it finally reported on the investigations held last year into the Smith and Ware elections. If Reed and Goff do resign, a new committee may be named to supplant the famous Reed committee which investigated the Pennsylvania and Illinois elections of 1926.

Claim Child Was Enticed Into Auto Near Home.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 17.—Despite their denial of all knowledge of the mysterious disappearance of 10-year-old Beatrice Rosenbaum from her home here May 14, the three suspects were to be questioned again today by local police and the three persons who said they saw Beatrice enter an automobile Monday morning were to be brought to police headquarters here to look over the trio.

Mrs. W. C. Vanderford and Mrs. C. Kelly, next door neighbors of the Rosenbaums, declare they saw a car drive up in front of the Rosenbaum residence, pick up the child and drive away.

Several searching parties, including police, Boy Scouts and citizens, were still continuing their search for the missing child.

Max B. Rosenbaum, father of Beatrice, told police of a mysterious telephone call last night, telling him that a light was burning in a vacant house in Lincoln street. Police rushed to the address and found nothing.

Rosenbaum says he has no enemies and no money and can see no reason why his child "be taken from him."

Using their investigation in an effort to determine the origin of the fire.

It was thought that Miss Spies overcame by smoke, fainting while trying to escape from Woodlawn hall. Her lifeless body, just outside the door of her room and in the entrance to a small bathroom, was recovered by firemen.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKETS

NEW YORK, May 17.—Considering the severity and the suddenness of Wednesday's break in prices of the market specialties, industrial stocks gave a good account of themselves in the early trading today. Instead of further sweeping declines in the market favorites, prices were bid upward by the professionals in the recognition of the strong position of marginal accounts, and the small volume of stocks pressed for sale from the outside.

Wright Aero declined 6 1/2 points to 213 1/2, at the opening but the stock climbed promptly to 220. Curtiss Aero also recovered about 5 points to bid above 155. Nash was a strong spot in the motor shares, advancing nearly 3 points to 93 3/4. General Motors sold in volume at 197 1/2, down a point from the previous close, and United States Steel was unchanged at 146. Moderate losses were sustained by the well known steel, motor and oil stocks.

Raising of the Philadelphia Reserve bank discount rate to 4 1/2 per cent after the close of yesterday's market revived discussion of the probability of similar action being taken by the New York directors today, but money market factors as usual failed to receive very much recognition in the speculative market and investment funds flowed in good volume. New bond offerings in the amount of $20,000,000 were easily absorbed in the outside market.

It is impossible to realize what it meant to the human race when Egyptians discovered, probably by accident, how to get copper from ore, and went traveling over the earth in search of it.

A TERRIFIC conflagration in Roman oil fields includes seven wells and has caused many deaths. Forests are cut down, tunnels dug to carry away the oil. More waste.

A GIANT Japanese volcano on the island of Krakatoa, determined to attract attention, has made 7,000 eruptions in the past 24 hours.

BRITONS mourn because they have "lost $250,000,000 in antique art." They ought to rejoice because they have gained 250,000,000 modern dollars, and use some of that money to develop or revive art in their own country. They have plenty of art left, in museums, and it doesn't matter whether Raphael's Madonna and Child stays in the private house of Lady Doshoroth, or moves to Millionaire John Snooks' home in America. In either case it is wasted.

SPAIN and Italy have a private agreement about fighting ships, and Spain votes 600,000,000 pesetas for a shipbuilding program.

Products company, but that the circuitous route required on shipments now forced marketing into other localities.

"We feel if the P. L. & W. is allowed to build to Youngstown it would not only give us a shorter route but a better rate."

Opposition attorneys pointed out that even if the line is constructed the haul into Youngstown will not be a one line haul owing to necessity of using the Erie railroad also.

Lack of railroad frontage in Youngstown has prevented industrial plants from locating in the Mahoning valley and the competition of Pittsburgh steel companies will be even more keenly felt by Youngstown producers in the future than it is now, unless the local producers are accorded exemption from the Erie rates on their products to the Ohio river. H. D. Rhodehouse, former traffic manager of the Youngstown Chamber of Commerce, testified.

Seek Lower Freight Rates. Rhodehouse said that while the all-rail rates from Pittsburgh are higher than the all-rail rates from Youngstown to southwestern destinations in the United States that the larger Pittsburgh district steel producers, which are located on the river, can deliver their mine and other steel products to point in the Mississippi valley and the southwest at freight rates and charges for below those in effect from Youngstown to the same points. "In addition to the situation already outlined, we understand steel shippers in the Pittsburgh district forwarded steel products via the Ohio and Mississippi rivers in privately owned barges to New Orleans and then use the ocean barge routes from New Orleans to Houston, Galveston, etc., by which means they can deliver steel products at these important Texas cities on the gulf at lower transportation charges than is indicated in the exhibit I already introduced," Rhodehouse said.

"The Pittsburgh competition is being more keenly felt from day to day and will be more pronounced in the future, because of the continued improvements on the Ohio river, unless producers in the Youngstown district, which is located not more than 40 miles from the Ohio river, are accorded ex-river freight rates on their products to the river, which will give them the benefit of their geographical location and permit them to use this avenue of transportation.

"While the manufacture of steel is the most important industry in Youngstown, there are, as I have already stated, other important manufacturing industries in this district. However, there is a need for further diversification of industries in Youngstown and particularly the addition of manufacturing plants, which would use steel as their raw material for the manufacture of their finished products.

The Pennsylvania, Baltimore & Ohio and New York Central railroads, who are opposing the building of the new railroad, were expected to call their first witnesses late today. The hearing will not be ended before Saturday and may run over until next week.

August C. Gutheim, counsel for The Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western railroad, expressed the opinion at the close of the Wednesday's hearing that the application would be approved.

NATIONALISTS MOVE ON PEKIN

Americans and Other Troops Guard Embassies.

LONDON, May 17.—Chinese nationalists (southern) troops are approaching Peking, according to advices from Shanghai today.

Foreign troops (including American) are guarding the foreign embassies and compounds. This is the ordinary guard, which has not been strengthened since the actual advance upon the city began. The bulk of the foreign troops are held at Tien-Tsin. It is reported that Soviet Russian troops guarding the Mongolian frontier are being reinforced. This has led to speculation as to whether Russian troops may move through Mongolia to join the southern army, if Peking is actually occupied.

The whereabouts of Marshal Chang Tsi Lin, dictator of the Peking government and generalissimo of the northern armies, remains unknown. It is reported from Mukden that he has withdrawn from Peking with a force of picked troops and is on his way to Manchuria.

Attaches of the United States legation in Peking were quoted as saying they did not anticipate any disorders but that preparations were made for any eventuality. Foreign residents of the city were advised either to leave or to remain in their homes.

BANK FAILS, CHIEF DIES

Isaiah Myers, Under Indictment, Succumbs at Arcadia.

FOSTORIA, O., May 17.—Isaiah Myers, president of the former Arcadia bank at Arcadia, Hancock county, which was alleged to have failed as the result of irregularities in the handling of funds by bank officials, was to be buried at West Independence, Hancock county, this afternoon. Myers died at his home here Tuesday.

Myers, with 12 other employees, associates and former associates of the Arcadia institution, was indicted by the grand jury at Findlay, O., on March 2, charged with embezzlement and misapplication of funds, after a shortage of $300,000 had been reported by state banking examiners.

TWO DIVORCE ACTIONS FILED

LISBON, May 17.—Elizabeth Grinn, through her counsel, K. L. Cobourn, of Salem, has filed a petition for divorce in common pleas court against her husband, Henry Grinn, residing on the Rhodes farm, Depot road, charging him with gross neglect of duty and habitual drunkenness for over a period of three years. The couple were married April 16, 1917.

Gertrude M. Hooker, through her counsel, Metzgar, McCarty & McCorkhill, of Salem, has filed her petition for divorce against her husband, Harry Hooker, of 425 East Taggart street, East Palestine. They were married Sept. 16, 1914. Extreme cruelty is made a ground for the action.

JUDGE LONES OVERRULES MOTION TO QUASH GARRETT LIQUOR COUNT

Court Also Refuses to Suppress Evidence in Indictment Which Alleges Third Offense.

LISBON, O., May 17.—Judge W. F. Lones has overruled the motion of R. P. Garrett, who asked quashing of the grand jury count and suppression of the evidence in an indictment alleging possession of liquor.

A "third offense" is charged against Garrett. Foulks & Stevenson of East Liverpool, representing Garrett, held that the defendant did not own the liquor at issue in the case and that in former trials before a justice of the peace the lower court had no jurisdiction.

Judge Lones held that defendant Garrett did not question the jurisdiction of the trial court at the time he was tried.

The state was represented by Prosecuting Attorney Robert M. Brooks and his assistant, John E. Pauknecht. The ruling of the court in this case reads:

"The motion to quash the indictment is overruled. The principal contention of the defendant is that the indictment does not state facts sufficient to constitute a third offense because it is not alleged that the second conviction was one in which it was charged that the defendant was guilty of a second offense."

"Under the authority of the decision of our supreme court reported in last week's 'Bar,' I hold that where an indictment does not state facts sufficient to constitute a third offense, but does set forth facts sufficient to constitute a first offense, a motion to quash or a demurrer should not be sustained on the ground that it does state an offense. If this indictment does not state a third offense, it does state a first one."

"It is claimed by the defendant that the first and second convictions were had before a justice, who, by reason of his interest, was disqualified, and by reason thereof he claims the first and second convictions were void, under the doctrine of what is known as the 'Tumey case.'"

"There is nothing on the face of the indictment showing that the defendant in the first and second cases before the justice, objected to the disqualification of the justice or to the jurisdiction, and under the interpretation of the Tumey case made by our supreme court in the case of ex parte Elicker, reported in Ohio Law Reporter of January 30, 1928, and Tarr vs. State of Ohio, reported in the Ohio Law Bulletin, issue of February 6, 1928, the judgment of the justice, when the record does not show such objection, is not valid, and such disqualification is waived unless there is such an objection.

"Under the doctrine of those cases, the judgment of the justice is valid unless reversed in error proceedings. It does not appear that any such error proceedings were had."

"The motion to suppress the evidence is also overruled."

"I am compelled to follow the decision of the supreme court of this state. The law announced by that court is the law until changed by it or the legislature; until that is done, I am obliged to follow it."

"It is set out in the affidavit filed in support of the motion, that the liquor found was not owned by defendant, or knowingly possessed by him. If that fact will be proven at the trial, then, of course, there cannot be a conviction."

"For the present, both the motion to quash and the motion to suppress the evidence is overruled, and exceptions noted."

"Counsel for defendant cite and rely upon Blatnick vs. State, 23 Ohio Appeals, 137, in which it is held that when a private dwelling is searched by virtue of a search warrant, such search is illegal under General Code 6212-16, and the liquor obtained cannot be received in evidence unless the private dwelling was being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor or unless it is in part used for business purposes."

"But in the cases above cited, the supreme court holds such liquor may be admitted unless it is a bona fide residence, and that a private dwelling where liquor is possessed which has been illegally manufactured or obtained is not a bona fide private residence."

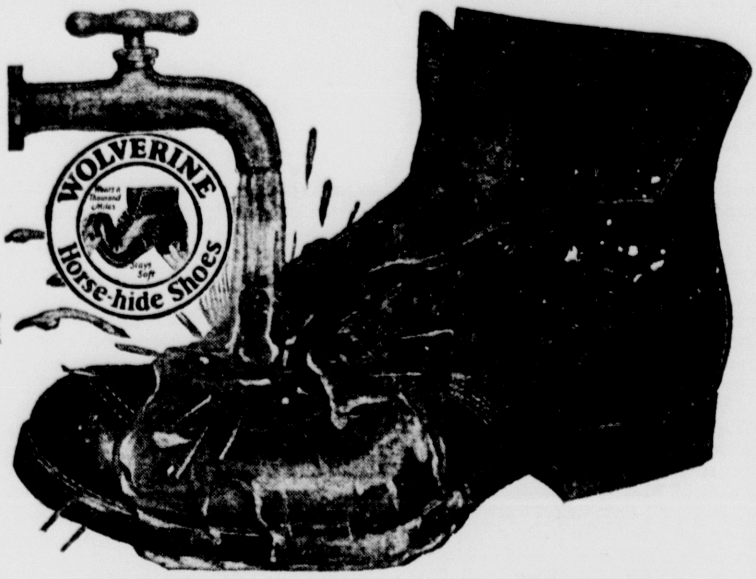

"Under the court of appeals decision, the test of admissibility is whether the liquor was found in a residence which was being used for the sale of intoxicating liquor. Under the supreme court decision, the test is whether liquor which has been unlawfully obtained is possessed in the residence."

"It is my duty to follow the supreme court decisions. The court of appeals gives effect to 6212-17 to the exclusion of 6212-27, but the supreme court attempts to construe both sections."

They Dry Soft After Soaking—Due to Wolverine Shell Cordovan Horsehide

Think of tramping through rain, snow, and mud all day—yet next morning you slip into work shoes as plump and soft as the day you bought them. Think of wearing shoes that never rip or tear. And that wear long after ordinary work shoes are thrown away.

That's what you can now buy in Wolverines—due to a special kind of horsehide called Shell Cordovan Horsehide, tanned for work shoes only by Wolverine. It is taken from the horse's hips and includes the shell which reinforces the outside hide. That's why Wolverines show no signs of wear for months and months. The seams are drawn into the surface so you can hardly feel them. And the acids of clay soils, sweaty feet, manure piles, or dairy floors don't eat the leather.

Try one pair of Wolverines and you'll always prefer them. We have all styles—at prices that are surprisingly reasonable. Come in today.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED

Daring Thief Abandons Car Near Hammondsville.

Star Coupe, belonging to a man named, Boyles, said to be a high tension line worker, at present in Youngstown, stolen from its parking place in Center street between Ninth and Tenth streets last night shortly after 10 o'clock, was recovered by police a few hours later on King's hill near Hammondsville.

Boyles, it is said, went into a house in Center street for a few moments. He heard the motor of his car start and running to the door, saw a man driving off.

Police were notified and authorities throughout the district notified. Two boys, a couple of hours later, drove into Toronto and notified police there that they had seen a car on King's hill which, it was later discovered, was Boyles'. One rear tire was badly damaged.

P. R. R. APPROVES AIR TRANSPORT

General W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad company, commenting upon the announcement of the formation of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., in which his company is interested, and the plans for joint rail and airplane passenger service, today made the following statement:

"The Pennsylvania railroad has taken this step after careful consideration. Our railroad has become part owner of the Transcontinental Air Transport, Inc., in the belief that time is ripe for the inauguration of safe and convenient passenger airplane service in this country, in co-ordination with rail facilities.

"Years of flying and careful research have demonstrated that, with proper maintenance and operation, passenger airplanes of the type to be used by the new company, flying only in daytime and over carefully selected and marked route, can be safely operated. Not until we are convinced that a dependable air service could be produced on a sound basis and that an independent organization had been developed competent to give a safe and satisfactory service, did we feel justified in giving our support to such an enterprise. We feel those conditions are met in the present undertaking and that it will be the forerunner of far-reaching developments."

LAY TEMPORARY CAR TRACKS

Traction Company Prepares for Bridge Work.

Employees of the Steubenville, East Liverpool and Beaver Valley Traction company yesterday laid the first section of track that will take street cars over a temporary trestle during the construction of the new concrete span over Little Yellow Creek.

The temporary street car "detour" will switch off the tracks near the mill playground east of the bridge, follow a route through the cinder pile, over the creek and connect with the main line again between First and Second streets.

MACHINE VS. MAN IS LABOR TOPIC

The chief topic of conversation today among the delegates attending the triennial convention of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen in sessions in Cleveland was the address yesterday made by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis in which he declared that nearly 250,000 railroad workers have been displaced by improved machinery during the last ten years despite an increase of 20 per cent in railroad traffic.

"The relentless march of machinery and labor saving devices affects all industries," Secretary Davis asserted. "What to do with those who are displaced is a very serious problem which we can't turn away until it is permanently solved."

"We are in a transition age on the threshold of the machine age. We must find ways to adjust ourselves to the changing conditions and I have great faith in our ability to do so."

Secretary Davis also made a short address to the women's auxiliary branch of the trainmen's organization and attended a mass meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose of which he is director general.

Secretary Davis was to visit his parents in Sharon, Pa., today.

STUDEBAKER'S

$795 ERSKINE SIX

Sets Ten New Records by Traveling

1000 miles in 984 minutes

ITS
HERITAGE

ON April 26, two strictly stock Erskine Club Sedans—exactly like those you can purchase from any Studebaker dealer—each traveled 1000 miles in less than 1000 consecutive minutes.

The run took place at Atlantic City Speedway, and was supervised by officials of the American Automobile Association who verified the stock design of the cars.

As a result, ten new records for stock cars under $1000 were established by the Erskine Six. And Studebaker has demonstrated that its 76-year-old traditions for careful building are carried through in the design, materials and workmanship of this low-priced fine car—named for Albert Russel Erskine, Studebaker's president.

Although sold at the lowest price at which any Studebaker-built car was ever offered ($795 f. o. b. factory), Studebaker has not permitted any compromise in the materials or workmanship entering into the Erskine Six. That is why this car was able to travel 1000 miles at better than a mile a minute—why you can drive your Erskine Six 40 miles an hour even when NEW—why the Erskine is so economical to maintain and to operate.

A few minutes behind the wheel of the New Erskine Six will introduce you to a type of performance as sensational for its price class as that of the World's Champion Commander is to the field of higher priced cars.

Dr. Caldwell's 3 Rules Keep You Healthy

Dr. Caldwell watched the result of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Skin Eruptions

successfully treated from within

SKILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

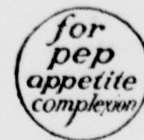

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples, and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."—Mrs. J. W. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

All drug stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Get the larger size. It is more economical.

Champ Mandell And 'Baby Face' M'Larnin Are Ready For Bell

Lightweight Title Go Draws Crowd of 60,000

Brings Together Brainy, Resourceful Boxer in Crown Holder and Knockout Puncher in Challenger.

By James L. Kilgallen.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Sixty thousand persons, paying $300,000 or more at the gate, are expected to view the scheduled fifteen round battle at the Polo Grounds tonight between Sammy Mandell, the Rockford, Ill., "Sheik," and "Baby Face" Jimmy McLarnin, of the Pacific Coast, for the lightweight championship of the world. It promises to be the most interesting lightweight battle in four years—since the night of July 23, 1924, when Benny Leonard whipped Lew Tendler in the same ring.

Both Champion Mandell and McLarnin are supremely confident of victory. They are trained down to a fine point and ready for the bell. They have motored to New York City from their training camps in the country and will weigh in at the offices of the state boxing commission at two this afternoon. Neither boxer is likely to have any difficulty scaling below 135 pounds.

Heavy betting on the outcome was reported today, with Mandell a 6 to 5 favorite. It was freely predicted, however, that the fighters will enter the ring at even money. Many thousands of dollars have been wagered. The betting has been heavier than on any fight hereabouts since the Dempsey-Firpo thriller.

The fight has all the elements of a "natural." It brings together a brainy, resourceful and game boxer in Mandell and a knockout puncher in McLarnin. It brings a champion into the ring who has lost some of his popularity because of his warnings in selecting opponents against the tremendously popular McLarnin whose recent one-round knockout of the sprightly Sid Terris amazed the fight fans of New York.

It will be the first time Mandell will have really risked his lightweight laurels since he won the crown from Rocky Kansas in Chicago on July 3, 1926. Since that time Mandell has boxed often enough—about thirty times—but most of his opponents were set-ups. He did, however, fight three first-rate boys—Jackie Fields, Phil McGraw and Billie Petrolle. The Fields fight, which was very close, was a no-decision affair and the title was not involved. McGraw, who had seen his best days, got a shot at the title but blew it, although he gave Mandell a hard scrap. Petrolle had Mandell on the floor but Sammy got up to beat him.

Pyle is Going To Make Derby Annual Affair

Future Prizes, he Says, May Exceed This Year's.

Pounding the pavement en route to New York, where they expect to arrive the latter part of May, there are a score or more Los Angeles-New York runners—Promoter C. C. Pyle's procession of bunion derbyists.

And behind them, scattered across the Mojave desert, the plains of Texas and Kansas and the dunes of Indiana are piled thousands of pairs of shoes, hundreds of torn and tattered running trunks, millions of crushed atoms of flesh and nerves and whole world's of ambition and shattered promises of great prosperity.

Annual Affair.

And that's not the worse of it! Promoter Pyle has announced he plans to make the cross-country endurance run an annual affair, with future total prizes exceeding the 1928 awards of more than $40,000 which includes $25,000 to the winner.

When the race started more than 19 weeks ago at Los Angeles on the 2,400 mile jog to New York there were 247 runners entered. When the corn collectors reached Chicago there were still 71 in the going and at least 25 are expected to finish the long grind.

A Hard Stretch.

The hardest stretch in the entire grind, according to John Salo was in Texas, where clay stuck to the runners' shoes, weighing them down like lead. Before he reached Texas Salo wore out six pairs of shoes and between Texas and Chicago he went through a dozen more.

Salo is one of the unique runners in the marathon. He does not follow strict training methods and unlike many of the other contestants foregoes showers and rubdowns.

At end of a day's long run of from 30 to 50 miles he merely trots to a cafe or roadside stand and fills up on "hot dogs" and lemonade. He has eaten as many as 20 "hot dogs" following a day on the road.

Jurado Sought as Club Pro

Compston Also in Line for New $15,000 Job.

By Davis J. Walsh.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Somebody stopped being dumb along about the end of the qualifying round of the British open. It was learned on credible authority today, and decided that Joseph Jurado, like the rose that blushed unseen, was wasting his fragrance on the Argentine, even if it was garlic itself. Anyhow, the story around the United States golf association headquarters today was that Jose might be weaned away from the bones or the airs of Buenos Aires and installed this summer as professional at a newly organized course in the Westchester county district of New York.

The same source of information declared that Archie Compston, Britain's best and perhaps only remaining golfer, might be offered the spot in reference to Jose, the idea being that an exhibit A is needed and any guy who beat Walter Hagen by 18 up and 17 to play ought to be on a pedestal with the other museum pieces.

The organization in question is the North Castle Golf and Country Club, near Mt. Kisco, and the report that either Compston or Jurado might be hired had its inception shortly after Thomas E. Donovan, guiding spirit of the outfit, announced that he had a $15,000 contract awaiting the winner of the British open. This, it may be said, is an excellent contract, even if nobody gets it. As a matter of fact, it represents the largest bid for professional services in the history of golf.

Hagen, of course, ruined the continuity by winning the British championship, it being assumed by everybody that this nonchalant young man would be somewhat irked by the suggestion that he identify himself with privately, while his public is clamoring incessantly and without surcease, which obviously is the wrong thing to be without. Anyhow, Hagen is to be blandished with the $15,000 offer as soon as he lands, according to the word passed along today. If he just cannot be annoyed, they will ask him to consider a part-time identification with the course.

GREENLEAF PILES UP MORE POINTS

NEW YORK, May 17.—As a result of winning two more blocks by scores of 129 to 104 and 121 to 40, Ralph Greenleaf today holds a big lead over Andrew St. Jean in their special 1,500 point pocket billiard match. The champion now has 753 points to St. Jean's 534.

If this falls of enticement, there is no one left but Jurado or Compston, as Gene Sarazen, runner up to Hagen, is unavailable owing to an existing contract with Fresh Meadow.

That Compston is headed for America is a belief that is rather widely accepted in this country. Archie having tired of English customs which insist that a professional golfer eat with the other help. He will be here for the national open at Olympia fields next month and the understanding is that he won't be permitted to escape, even if he wants to, which he doesn't.

As for Jurado, I have it on the authority of the U. S. A. that he worked as pro at a club near Peekskill, N. Y., for two years and might welcome a chance to return where the big money is always mentioned, even when it isn't paid.

That $15,000, of course, doesn't go, except to Hagen, if then. They could hire Compston and his Uncle Abner for that and still have enough left to keep Jurado in frijoles for the rest of his life.

Back Bay Boys Beat Detroit

Red Sox Half-game Away From First Division.

By Les Cinklin.

NEW YORK, May 17.—Nobody is laughing at the Boston Red Sox these days. The Back Bay boys, for years the joke of the American league, have won five straight games and are less than half a game away from the first division. They nosed out Detroit yesterday, 5 to 4, in the eleventh inning, the defeat marking Detroit's sixth successive setback.

Bill Carrigan has collected a prize-winning bunch of rookie pitchers, retained the best of the young players bequeathed him by former managers, and balanced the team with four seasoned veterans—Flagstad, Williams, Gerber and Hofmann. The long distance hitting of Williams has won several games. The Sox have been leading the league in fielding.

Ty Cobb is getting spryer as the weather becomes warmer. The veteran drove in four runs with a home run and a single and actually stole a base as the Athletics slaughtered Cleveland, 15 to 2. Hale and Fonseca also hit homers. Rube Walberg held the Indians to five hits.

All other teams were idle yesterday. In the National league today the eastern clubs will begin the last leg of their western invasion. Cincinnati and Chicago, tied for the lead, take on Brooklyn and Boston respectively. The New York Giants, smarting under four successive defeats by the Cubs, will endeavor to wrest third place from the Cardinals.

Harry Golstein, Boston flyweight, scored technical knockout over Roulter Parra, of Chile (5).

You can find plenty of tire dealers who'll be glad to dicker with you, tempt you with all sorts of "special" deals.

We can't. It goes against our grain to pad up list prices in order to give you a discount or a "long trade"—to make ourselves good fellows at your expense.

We've been in the tire business for a good many years. Watched the "bargain boys" and the "long discount" fellows come and go. Every year our business has increased.

Every year more shrewd tire buyers come to us for Goodyears—and they "stay put" on Goodyears.

Wellsville Runs Win Streak To Five In Victory Over K. T. K.

Southpaw Easton Winner In First Start of Year

Hands Katies Seven Bingles and Gets Faultless Support; O'Brosky Handicapped by Infield Errors.

Wellsville Nash Motors ran their victory streak to five consecutive games and dislodged K. T. K. from its tie with Turk Nash for second place in an 8 to 2 triumph over the McCoy combine last night at Columbian park.

Easton, Wellsville southpaw, making his initial appearance on the mound for the visitors, gave the Potters seven safe bingles but kept them scattered, issued only one walk, crashed out a pair of safe blows himself and was accorded faultless support from his defensive corps.

On the other hand, Jack O'Brosky, K. T. K. slab ace, gave the down river outfit nine hits but, he, too, kept them pretty well apart, save in the fourth, and in general, deserved a better fate. Looseness in the infield put O'Brosky "in the hole" time after time and eventually proved too big a handicap for him to surmount.

While no less than six of the Wellsville runs were unearned credit goes to the winners for their ability to take advantage of the lapses in the K. T. K. defense. They ran the paths at a lively clip, almost recklessly, and made almost every opposition miscue count toward runs.

Prior to the beginning of the contest, Captain Mahl Myers notified Umpire Hall that the Katies would play the game under protest, the Potters questioning the eligibility of Wellsville's first baseman, Edwards.

The tail end of the Wellsville batting order proved more effective against O'Brosky's delivery than the leaders. The first four swatters got two safe ones among them while pitcher Paston connected twice and Catcher Lintner also slammed out a pair, both hitting at a 1,000 clip for the day, while Hancock singled safely in three trials and G. Wagner lined out two in three trips up.

Mahl Myers led the K. T. K. swatters with a brace of singles in three trips to the plate. Amos and Coleman crashed out three-baggers. Coleman also had a busy evening at the Keyston sack. He made three putouts, handled five assists and started two double plays.

Wellsville counted once in the second frame. After Edwards was re-

Laughlin To Meet Leaders

Dickey's Nine in Action at Wellsville Tonight.

HAVING beaten three of their five City League opponents in hanging up five consecutive victories, the Wellsville Nash Motors tonight tackle the Homer Laughlin club of Newell at Nicholson park, Wellsville, in the first game of their first-half series.

The Wellsville aggregation has nicked the Madison Billiards for a pair of games, won two from the Chester club and last night copped from the K. T. K.

Tonight's game will mark their first meeting of the campaign with the West Virginians and while the Laughlin combine is by no means as strong as it was last season, noticeably in pitching, Manager Joe Dickey has the making of a good ball club once he succeeds in co-ordinating their movements.

The Constant Flame

Narrative of Love and Struggle
Against Temptations

By WINIFRED VAN DUZER

Steve shuffled his feet and scowled at the floor; Agnes pressed her hands together to stop them shaking. Rosier glanced through the window and nodded at Peter Brent starting away down the street. "He'll get them out tonight. That youngster isn't a bad young fellow, Steve. Taking care of his mother and sending his sister to school. Try to give him a hand, will you? It's the older men like you, ones who've been with us a long time we depend on. Let me count on you, won't you?"

"Like Kent," Emily thought. "Clever and kind—oh, he's fine. He didn't have to do this; come here to ask father not to be so disagreeable. Some would have discharged him, taken his living away because he acted so. He won't let himself like the Rossiers; he doesn't want to like them—"

Now Kent's father turned to her, smiling, and mentioned his own daughter. "You're younger than Agnes? But of course; I remember your dad coming in to say he had a little girl. You'll soon get through school? And what will you be then? A teacher maybe?"

It was the first Emily had thought of that. She looked up with a tingle of excitement. "A teacher? You—you think I might teach? I'd love it! Mother's sister is a teacher. Why, maybe—do you suppose I might teach Latin?"

He twinkled at her enthusiasm, yet she saw he was quite serious. "Of course you could teach. I've heard what a good student you are. Certainly you could teach Latin. Indeed I've heard about your aunt. Blood will tell, my dear."

There it was again, she thought. Always something blood would help you do or stop you from doing. Why? Must one surely be as others had been, those who had gone before and left an assortment of likes and dislikes, ambitions, hopes, failures to run through the body and make or mar one's life?

Was blood a despot always to command, never to be gainsaid?

It ran blue in one man's veins, and he was Mister Rossier and controlled other men. And in another's veins it wasn't blue at all; just a life stream which kept him going along, able to earn his way, never firing him with the urge to climb the heights. And that one was Steve Day, factory hand.

Emily felt a vague resentment; a sense of defeat. What was ambition if this must be so? Held by blood as by an unbreakable chain one would be always the prisoner of heritage.

When she had spoken of her aunt, Kent's father remarked "Blood will tell." Here was something; perhaps a thin line of 'lue coursing her pulses. Aunt Mary had the will to move up and on; somewhere back in the long ago there must have been an ancestor with vision and courage. Had something of those been passed down to her?

A drop of blue blood . . . She bared her wrist and looked at it long and thoughtfully.

CHAPTER 4.

Marty went by one morning on a tramp up the hill. He had not spoken to Emily since the day on North Mountain when he pressed the bright leaves into her hands and silenced her protests that he might have been killed by his tense. "I'd do more than that for you, Em. Much more than that."

She had seen him in the school yard, met him once or twice on the street, but he had stalked by with a curt nod or perhaps paying no attention to her at all. Once she saw him walking with Anne and felt a quick unreasonable pang of irritation.

Anne giggling up at him, leading him around the way she led her police dog—stalwart fellow with a silly pink bow on his collar. Something incongruous about that; Emily wanted to burst out, "Oh, let him alone—don't try to tame him. He's pretty awful, but at least he's himself. Don't hang a pink bow on him; he's not for that."

But she said nothing—only stared—and Anne grinned snippily and slid her hand through Marty's arm. He promptly snatched his arm away.

Now he was tramping through the field, grown to brush and locust, beside the Day place and Emily was in the garden training vines. Feet raced beside him; there was an explosion of pleased yelps and a raggedy nose was thrust through the bushes.

"The darling!" Emily cried, bending to pull the dog's ears. "Airedale, isn't he? Oh, you lovely puppy thing!"

She sat on a bank and gathered the slim body in her arms. Another dog sprang out and stood wagging his clipped tail very fast, looking at her with bright eyes. Marty came awkwardly and sat beside her, grinning.

"Say, they like you, Em. Don't care much about petting either, terriers don't. They're thoroughbreds; best anywhere. Their dad won every first prize at the Garden shows for gosh knows how long and their mamma—say, I can't eat one snuggle!"

"Lamb child! What funny long noses. As if someone had been drawing them and his hand slipped."

"That's blood," Marty explained. "If their noses were shorter and their heads wider they wouldn't be the aristocrats they are. That's what it is, Em; blood."

Blood again. Blue blood. These puppies had it so they were better than ordinary dogs. Better than the Brent dog who had bound ears and a collie tail and goodness knew what other breeds all mixed up in his wriggling body.

"Why is blood important?" she asked Marty. "They'd be dogs just the same, wouldn't they? Friendly and loyal like all dogs?"

"But not so intelligent. These blooded fellows are a good deal like classy people; they always run true to form. You can bank on them. They're big-hearted, what I mean; if they love you or even if they don't, and think they owe you something they'll die for you without a whimper. Why, say, Em, they think!"

"These boys' daddy is like that. He lives in a family where there's a little girl five or six years old. And they tell how she was walking on the wall above the river and he barked and jumped around her—did everything to get her back. Then what he'd been afraid of happened; she slipped over."

"Well, the dog caught her dress in his teeth. He couldn't pull her back but he could brace himself and hold her. Their jaws are like steel, you know."

"They found the two of them four hours afterward. The dog was all in but the girl wasn't hurt. He didn't care for himself, you see; only about coming through. That's the thoroughbred for you."

Emily put her cheek down on the rough head and the dog nuzzled her neck, holding up a great paw to shake hands. "Darling," she kept whispering. "You beautiful thing!"

Marty watched under his brows—saw the dog lap her ear, finally stretch his muzzle upon her open palm and roll himself up with a little grunt of content.

"They're one-man dogs, Em. If they take a liking to you it lasts as long as they live and they never feel the same about anybody else." Now he called, but the puppy opened one merry eye and wouldn't move.

Marty got up finally and stood looking down. "Listen, Em, do you want him? I've got the other one. Be a good friend to you, he will."

"But—oh, you mean you're giving him to me? Why, he's valuable isn't he?"

"Not too valuable for you. You like him?"

"Do I! Well, you shouldn't—but I do love him so. Such a person, he is—"

Mrs. Day came out and the dog opened his mouth in a great, white-tooth yawn. That set them all laughing and Emily said, catching her breath, "He's mine, mother. Marty gave him to me. He's a thoroughbred—a dog gentleman—"

Agnes replied, quickly, "Say nothing of that to your father, then, dear. Well, you'll come in to lunch, Marty? It's on the table."

He refused and looked at Emily; when she said, "Yes Marty, do," he followed them in, hot with embarrassment, and choked on the very strong tea Agnes insisted upon giving him.

This is how it happened that Marty began to appear at the Day home. He would go for a tramp up the hill with his airedale bounding about his feet and stop, casually, to enquire about the dog's brother.

"THE LOVE MART" WINS AT CERAMIC

Beautiful Billie Dove has a role that could hardly be surpassed for charm and effective dramatic appeal in "The Love Mart," which is now being offered at the Ceramic Theatre. The portrayals by Gilbert Roland and Noah Beery are equally effective.

The story is laid in the early Nineteenth Century, in New Orleans and vicinity. This was a time when slave-running was at its height, because congress had forbidden the importation of slaves into America. Antoinette Prochaine, a beautiful girl of aristocratic lineage, is accused of being an octopus, and is sold at the auction block. Victor Jallot, a gentleman adventurer, buys and frees her. But she comes back because she loves him and, when proved white, they are reunited as man and wife.

Pirates, slave-runners, slaves and Creole fashion-plates are among the picturesque figures in this brave tale of the old South. Gilbert Roland plays the role of Jallot and Noah Beery is a villainous, slave-running ship-master. Other fine characterizations are supplied by Eulie Chantard, Armand Kaliz, Boris Karloff, Andre Lanoy and Raymond Turner.

The settings are colorful and the direction is superb. It is a George Fitzmaurice production for First National Pictures and not for one moment has he permitted the action to flag.

As pure entertainment, plus beauty and admirable acting, "The Love Mart" stands out like a beacon as one of the most colorful films of the year.

Aching, Swollen Feet

No sensible person will continue to suffer from those intense agonizing throbbing foot pains when every well stocked drug store has Moore's Emerald Oil and sells it with an absolute guarantee of satisfaction or money back.
Your feet may be so swollen and inflamed that you think you can't go another step.
Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture. You'd give anything to get relief, wouldn't you? Then try this:
Two or three applications of Moore's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.
And best of all any offensive odor is gone for good—it's a wonderful formula—this combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics so marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing various or swollen veins.
Every good drugstore guarantees Moore's
Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

BAD MEN, BEWARE! MIDLAND'S NEW COP STOPPED JESS WILLARD

MIDLAND, Pa., May 17.—Steel City "bad men" and police characters should not be hard for Tom McMahon, Midland's new patrolman, who went on duty last night, to handle, for McMahon, who is a former boxer, earned the distinction of stopping Jesse Willard, former heavyweight champion, in 1914.

Staged at Youngstown, O., shortly before Willard took his title-winning trip to Havana, Cuba, McMahon's bout with the big farmer went 12 rounds, when officials gave him the decision over Jesse.

McMahon has also fought many other boxers of the light heavyweight and heavyweight class. He has journeyed to Australia to meet several champions in the course of his pugilistic career.
